Re:

City of Westland Police and Fire Retirement System v. Sonic Solutions

Case No. C-07-05111-JSW (N.D. Cal.)

Your Honor:

Pursuant to this Court's May 28, 2008 Order Re [Corrected] Consolidated Class Action Complaint for Violation of the Federal Securities Laws, attached as Exhibit 1 please find a redline version of the May 27, 2008 [Corrected] Consolidated Complaint ("[Corrected] Complaint") identifying corrections to the March 21, 2008 Consolidated Complaint ("Consolidated Complaint").

Specifically, the corrections made to the Consolidated Complaint are the insertion of a Claim for Relief under Securities Exchange Act 14(a) in the Claims for Relief section (pages 69-70), and the insertion of the word "14(a)" in the Jurisdiction and Venue section (page 22). The [Corrected] Complaint does not add or remove any facts. Nor does it change any facts. Instead, it corrects an inadvertent clerical error that resulted in the deletion of the 14(a) Claim for Relief from the Consolidated Complaint. Indeed, plaintiffs' initial complaint filed in October 2007, Dkt. No. 1, specifically asserted a Claim for Relief under 14(a) of the Securities Exchange Act and the Consolidated Complaint particularly alleged false and misleading 14(a) proxy statements. However, an inadvertent clerical error resulted in the deletion of the Claim for Relief in the Consolidated Complaint.

Attached please also find a May 29, 2008 correspondence from counsel for plaintiffs to counsel for defendants explaining the correction and proposing an agreement that would allow defendants to specifically address the 14(a) Claim for Relief without disturbing the current briefing or hearing schedule. Counsel for defendants responded to plaintiffs' May 29, 2008 letter on May 30, 2008. See Exhibits 2 and 3 hereto.

Respectfully submitted,

Shawn A. Williams

I. INTRODUCTION

- 1. Lead Plaintiffs, City of Westland Police and Fire Retirement System and Plymouth County Retirement System (the "Retirement Systems" or "Lead Plaintiffs"), bring this federal securities law class action on behalf of themselves and all persons who purchased or otherwise acquired the publicly traded securities of Sonic Solutions ("Sonic" or the "Company") between October 23, 2002 and May 17, 2007 (the "Class Period"), against certain of Sonic's top officers and directors for violations of the federal securities laws. This action arises out of defendants' false statements about Sonic's earnings and their concealment of the backdating of stock option grants by Sonic's directors and top executive officers, including its President and Chief Executive Officer ("CEO"), David C. Habiger ("Habiger"); Chairman and Former CEO, Robert J. Doris ("Doris"); Chief Operating Officer ("COO") and former Chief Financial Officer ("CFO"), A. Clay Leighton ("Leighton"); director and Secretary, Mary C. Sauer ("Sauer"); and Executive Vice President, Mark Ely ("Ely").
- 2. This action alleges a fraudulent scheme and numerous false and misleading statements filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and disseminated to Sonic's shareholders over a period of at least eight years. At the crux of the fraudulent scheme was a practice whereby defendants knowingly manipulated stock option grants to the Company's officers, directors and employees in order to provide the recipients with a more profitable exercise price while under-reporting the Company's expenses and thereby overstating the Company's reported earnings or understating the Company's reported loss. As a result of this scheme, Sonic has recently been forced to issue a $29 million restatement to account for stock option grants which were granted in-the-money and never expensed. Sonic's restatement admits that the Company's financial statements throughout the Class Period were materially false and misleading.
- 3. During, and prior to the Class Period, Sonic's employees were compensated in large part through the issuance of stock options. A stock option granted to an employee of a corporation allows the employee to purchase company stock at a specified price – referred to as the "exercise price," typically the fair market value of the stock on the date the option is granted. When properly issued, stock options serve as a valuable part of employee compensation packages as a means to create incentives to boost profitability and stock value. When the employee exercises an option, he or she purchases the stock from the company at the exercise price, regardless of the stock's price at the time the option is exercised.

- 4. However, during, and prior to, the Class Period, Sonic was finding it "difficult" and "expend[ing] considerable effort" in recruiting and hiring qualified employees. As a result, stock option compensation was a particularly important component of compensation at Sonic throughout the Class Period. As Sonic stated repeatedly in its Forms 10-K filed with the SEC, "demand for technology professionals has been very strong," and "[t]o a very great degree our success in the future will depend on our ability to recruit, retain and motivate engineering, technical, sales, marketing and operations professionals." 2003 Form 10-K at 16. In order to attract qualified employees, as well as retain existing employees, Sonic backdated stock option grants to provide employees with immediate unearned compensation without recording the required compensation expenses in its financial statements as required by Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25 ("APB 25"), and in violation of Sonic's shareholder-approved stock option plans. As a result, Sonic's net income was overstated, or its net loss was understated, for every year during the Class Period.
- 5. "Backdating" is a practice by which a stock option is reported as having been granted on a certain date, but is actually granted days or months later and is backdated to a date when the Company's stock was trading at a lower price. Backdating allows option grantees to realize immediate unearned and undisclosed financial gains at the expense of the company's shareholders. Backdating of stock options has been compared to picking lottery numbers on the day

Plaintiffs' use of the terms "backdating," "misdating," "backdated" and "misdated" throughout this Complaint may also refer to other forms of related stock option manipulation perpetrated by defendants alleged in this action.

One jurist summarized the issue in a case alleging similar facts: "[T]his case is incredibly imple. Plaintiffs claim defendants were playing a game with a stacked deck. When awarded the with deliberately selected grant detectable which were already in the manay defendants were simple. Plaintiffs claim defendants were playing a game with a stacked deck. When awarded options, with deliberately selected grant dates which were already in-the-money, defendants were playing a game they knew they could not lose; and, unsurprisingly, defendants won. . . . In this game . . . the patsy was either the hapless corporation, which in varying ways defendants controlled, or the corporation's shareholders, whose equity provided the game's antes and bloated pot." In re UnitedHealth Group PSLRA Litig., No. 06-CV-1691 (JMR/FLN), 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 40623, at *6-*8 (D. Minn. June 4, 2007). Unless otherwise noted, all emphasis has been added and citations omitted.

after the winning numbers are announced, or betting on a horse after the race has finished. Arthur Levitt, a former chairman of the SEC was quoted stating that stock option backdating "represents the ultimate in greed. . . . It is stealing, in effect. It is ripping off shareholders in an unconscionable way."

6. In addition, former SEC Chairman Harvey Pitt recently opined that the backdating of stock options often involves the falsification of documents for personal gain:

Many discussions of backdating options start with the observation that backdating is not, per se, illegal. That is wrong. Options backdating frequently involves falsification of records used to gain access to corporate assets. That conduct violates the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and its internal controls requirements. If corporate directors were complicit in these efforts, state law fiduciary obligations are violated. Backdating is not only illegal and unethical, it points to a lack of integrity in a company's internal controls.³

- 7. Backdating stock options creates an instant paper gain to grantees who receive them because the options were priced below the stock's fair market value when they were actually awarded. Under Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP"), this instant paper gain is equivalent to paying extra compensation and thus is a cost to Sonic. Accordingly, Sonic was required to record an expense on its financial statements for any options granted below the fair market value on the grant date of the option, or "in-the-money" options. However, defendants did not properly record these known costs on Sonic's financial statements, causing Sonic's financial statements throughout the Class Period to be issued in violation of GAAP. Specifically, those financial statements overstated reported earnings and understated reported expenses.
- 8. On February 1, 2007, the Company announced in a press release that it was reviewing its stock option granting practices, and that its financial statements should no longer be relied on:

Sonic Solutions... announced today that it has commenced a voluntary review of its historical and current stock option grant practices and related accounting. The review was initiated by management and is being conducted by the audit committee of the board of directors, comprised solely of independent directors, with the assistance of independent legal counsel.

Based on the review to date, the audit committee and Company management have preliminarily concluded that, under applicable accounting guidance, the Company lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical option grants and that the measurement dates associated with these option grants may need to be adjusted.

* * *

Accordingly, the audit committee, after consultation with management and the Company's board of directors, determined that the Company's annual and interim financial statements should no longer be relied upon.

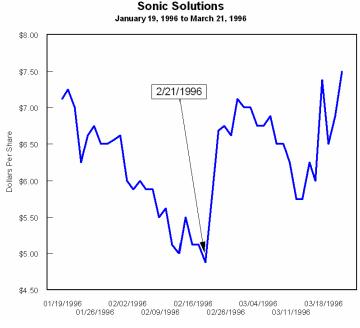

Ex. 1.4

9. Indeed, the extent of the backdating at Sonic was broad and widespread. Plaintiffs' investigation has revealed an astounding pattern of favorably timed stock option grants throughout and prior to the Class Period. Sonic reported twenty-four separate stock option grant dates between 1996 and 2004. Of those 24 grants, at least ten were non-discretionary grants awarded under Sonic's non-employee director plan. Of the 14 discretionary grant dates reported in filings with the SEC, eight grants were purportedly made on dates when Sonic's stock price was trading at its lowest price of the relevant month, and sometimes the lowest price of the fiscal quarter and/or fiscal year. The odds that Sonic would have granted options with such a favorable date by mere luck are approximately 1 out of 11 million. For example, the charts below illustrate several pre-Class Period grants made on the lowest or near the lowest price of the Relevant Period for Sonic's stock price.

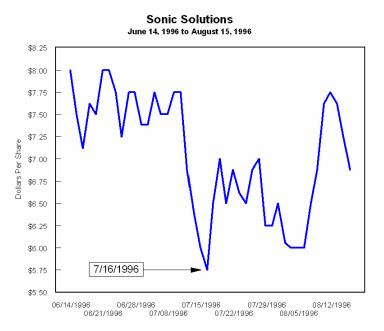

All "Ex. _" references are to the Appendix to Consolidated Class Action Complaint for Violations of the Federal Securities Law, filed herewith.

On February 21, 1996, defendants purportedly granted Christopher Kryzan ("Kryzan"), Sonic's Vice President of Marketing, an option for 80,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $4.88 per share. This was the low for the entire fiscal year. Further, according to Sonic's 1999 Form 10-K, Kryzan was not even hired at Sonic until March 1996, after the grant was purportedly approved. Sonic Solutions January 19, 1996 to March 21, 1996

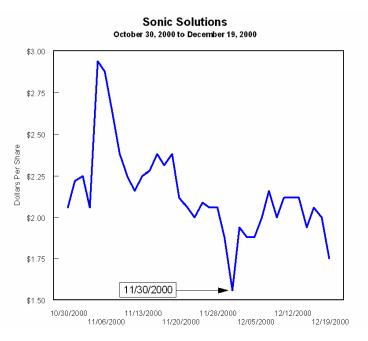

11. On July 16, 1996, defendants purportedly granted defendant Leighton an option for 20,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $5.75 per share. This was the low for the month, for Sonic's fiscal quarter, and the second lowest stock price of the entire fiscal year.

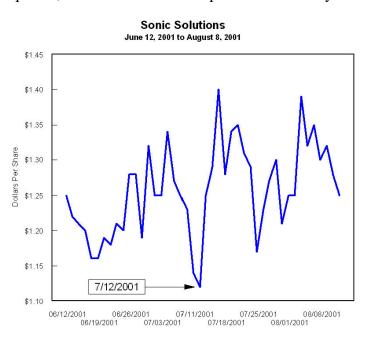

12. On July 22, 1997, defendants purportedly granted defendant Leighton an option for 30,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $5.12 per share. This was the low for the month, and for Sonic's fiscal quarter.

13. On November 30, 2000, defendants purportedly granted Leighton options for 50,000 shares of Sonic stock and Kryzan options for 48,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $1.56 per share. This was the low for the month.

14. On July 12, 2001, defendants purportedly granted defendants Doris, Sauer and Leighton options for 400,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $1.12 per share. This was the low of the month, the quarter, and the second lowest price of the fiscal year.

16. The only plausible explanation for how 57% of Sonic's discretionary stock option grants could have been "granted" on the monthly low of Sonic's stock price is that defendants consistently backdated stock options in violation of GAAP, in violation of Sonic's internal accounting policies, in violation of their shareholder-approved stock option plans, and in violation of federal law.

Α. Sonic Solutions Incentive Stock Option Plans During the Class Period

17. During the Relevant Period, Sonic issued stock options to executives and employees under four separate plans: the September 1989 Stock Option Plan (the "1989 Plan") (Ex. 2), the 1994 Non-Employee Directors Stock Option Plan (the "1994 Directors Plan") (Ex. 3), the Sonic Solutions 1998 Stock Option Plan (the "1998 Plan") (Ex. 4), and the 2000 Stock Option Plan (the "2000 Plan") (Ex. 5). Each of the stock option plans and the manner in which they were purportedly administered by defendants was publicly reported in documents filed with the SEC.

18. The 1989 Plan: Under the 1989 Plan, options could be granted to employees, directors and consultants. The 1989 Plan allowed Sonic to issue incentive stock options, which were required to be granted at fair market value at the date of grant. Ex. 2. Throughout the Relevant Period,⁵ Sonic stated repeatedly that all options issued under the 1989 Plan were granted as incentive stock options. The 1989 Plan was administered by Sonic's Board of Directors ("Board") and CEO.

- 19. The 1994 Directors Plan: Under the 1994 Directors Plan, options could be granted to Sonic's non-employee directors. Under the 1994 Directors Plan, incentive stock options were required to be granted at the fair market value of Sonic's common stock on the date of grant. The number of options granted annually was fixed by the plan. The 1994 Directors Plan allowed Sonic to issue incentive stock options, which were required to be granted at fair market value at the date of grant. Ex. 3. Throughout the Class Period, Sonic repeatedly stated that all options issued under the 1994 Directors Plan were granted as incentive stock options. The 1994 Directors Plan was administered by Sonic's Board and CEO.
- 20. The 1998 Plan: Under the 1998 Plan, Sonic could issue incentive stock options, which were required to be granted at fair market value at the date of grant. Ex. 4. Throughout the Relevant Period, Sonic stated repeatedly that all options issued under the 1998 Plan were granted as incentive stock options. The 1998 Plan was administered by Sonic's Board and CEO.
- 21. The 2000 Plan: Under the 2000 Plan, Sonic issued incentive stock options, which were required to be granted at fair market value at the date of grant. Ex. 5. Throughout the Relevant Period, Sonic stated repeatedly that all options issued under the 2000 Plan were granted as incentive stock options. The 2000 Plan was administered by Sonic's Board and CEO.
- 22. The Company's (false) Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2006 described each of the plans that were in place at the time and falsely assured investors that all stock options had been issued at fair market value on the date of the grant:

Stock Options

* * *

Under our September 1989 Stock Option Plan (the "1989 Plan") options to purchase up to an aggregate of 2,090,000 shares of common stock may be granted to key employees, directors and consultants. Grants of options to the directors of Sonic Solutions may not exceed 140,000 shares. The 1989 Plan provides for issuing both incentive stock options, which must be granted at fair market value at the date of grant, and nonqualified stock options, which must be granted at not less than 85% of fair market value of the stock. All options to date have been granted as incentive stock options. . . . Our Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer administer the 1989 Plan.

During 1995, we adopted the 1994 Non-Employee Directors Stock Option Plan (the "Non-Employee Plan") which provides for the grant of stock options to Sonic Solutions non-employee directors. Under this plan, stock options are granted annually at the fair market value of Sonic Solutions' common stock on the date of grant. . . . The Non-Employee Plan provides for issuing both incentive stock options, which must be granted at fair market value at the date of grant, and nonqualified stock options, which must be granted at not less than 85% of fair market value of the stock. All options to date have been granted as incentive stock options. . . . Our Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer administer the Non-Employee Plan.

During 1998, we adopted the Sonic Solutions 1998 Stock Option Plan (the "1998 Plan")... The 1998 Plan provides for issuing both incentive stock options, which must be granted at fair market value at the date of grant, and nonqualified stock options, which must be granted at not less than 85% of fair market value of the stock. All options to date have been granted as incentive stock options... Our Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer administer the 1998 Plan.

In 2000, we adopted the Sonic Solutions 2000 Stock Option Plan (the "2000 Plan"). . . . Our Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer administer the 2000 Plan.

23. None of Sonic's stock option plans permitted the backdating of stock options. With respect to incentive stock options ("ISO"), the plans stated that "[t]he exercise price of an ISO shall be determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of the [Internal Revenue] Code and shall in no event be less that the Fair Market Value of the Common Stock subject to the Option on the date of grant" In turn, the date of grant was defined as follows: "the date of grant of an Option under the Plan shall be the date as of which the Administrator approves the grant."

24. In addition to violating GAAP, the backdating of stock options violated Sonic's accounting policies, as well as Sonic's shareholder-approved stock option plans. With respect to each of Sonic's applicable stock option plans, Sonic publicly reported that its "Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer administer the Plan." Because Sonic did not have a compensation committee until March 2005 when the Audit Committee assumed the role of a Compensation Committee, it was "the responsibility of the entire Board to . . . administer the Company's executive compensation plans " Thus, defendants Doris, Sauer, Robert M. Greber ("Greber"), Peter J.

Marguglio ("Marguglio") and R. Warren Langley ("Langley"), were directly responsible for administering Sonic's stock option plans.

- 25. According to Sonic's 1989 Plan, 1998 Plan, and 2000 Plan, defendants Doris, Sauer, Greber, Marguglio and Langley were specifically given the authority:
 - (i) to grant Options; (ii) to determine the fair market value of the Common Stock subject to Options; (iii) to determine the exercise price of Options granted; (iv) to determine the persons to whom, and the time or times at which, Options shall be granted, and the number of shares subject to each Option

Exs. 2, 4, 5.

- 26. Because of defendants' specifically articulated duties and responsibilities with respect to the granting and approval of stock options, as set forth in Sonic's stock option plans, SEC filings, and February 26, 2008 Form 10-K, the defendants knew or should have known that Sonic's financial statements throughout the Class Period, as well as defendants' statements regarding the administration of Sonic's option plans and Sonic's compliance with APB 25 were false and misleading.
- 27. These same individuals repeatedly and falsely stated to Sonic's investors in filings with the SEC that stock options were granted at fair market value, and that Sonic accounted for options in accordance with APB 25. These statements, as well as Sonic's financial statements, were false and misleading for over a decade because they failed to disclose defendants' practice of backdating stock option grants to Sonic's employees, and failed to properly record the compensation expense associated with backdated stock option grants.
- 28. For example, defendants repeatedly and falsely represented that the Company issued stock options at an exercise price equal to the fair market value of the Company's stock on the date of the grant, stating that for all of Sonic's option plans, "[a]ll options to date have been granted as incentive stock options" which "must be granted at fair market value at the date of grant."
- 29. Further, throughout the Class Period, Sonic falsely represented that the Company applied APB 25 in accounting for stock option grants in its annual reports filed with the SEC. Under APB 25, public companies could grant options to employees without recording an expense so long as the options were "at-the-money." Conversely, a compensation expense had to be recorded for stock options granted "in-the-money."

30. As long as options were issued at fair market value, the accounting for such option grants is simple and straightforward. One leading treatise explains:

[T]he accounting treatment of a normal stock option that vests or becomes exercisable based on the passage of time is quite simple. If this kind of option is granted with an exercise price that is at least equal to the full fair market value of the underlying stock at the time the option is granted, no compensation charge is recognized for financial accounting purposes by reason of the option grant. If such an option is granted with an exercise price that is less than the fair market value of the underlying stock on the date of grant, there is generally a per share charge against earnings equal to the difference between such fair market value and such exercise price.

Michael S. Sirkin & Lawrence K. Caghey, Executive Compensation §5.02 (2007).

- 31. This accounting rule APB 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees" has been in effect since 1972. The rule was perhaps the most well known accounting rule in Silicon Valley, particularly for companies like Sonic which relied so extensively on option grants to compensate employees. Indeed, corporate executives, audit committees, and public auditing firms alike were keenly aware of, and highly resistant to, any changes to APB 25 during the Class Period, since granting in-the-money options to employees could have a significant impact on the expenses and income (or loss) reported to the shareholders of the public company.
- 32. However, Sonic now admits that it was not complying with APB 25, and that it did not have contemporaneous documents to determine the original grant dates:

For a large portion of options issued by us, particularly prior to September 23, 2005 . . . , there is little or no contemporaneous grant-specific documentation that satisfies the requirements for "measurement dates" under APB No. 25 and that would allow us to maintain the original grant date used for accounting purposes

- 33. At the same time that defendants made these false and misleading statements, defendants knew but failed to disclose that the practices employed by the Board and CEO allowed stock option grants to be backdated to dates when the Company's shares were trading at or near the lowest price for that month, quarter or year.
- 34. Based on defendants' admissions in their February 26, 2008 restatement of their Form 10-K for fiscal year ending March 31, 2007, as well as the pattern of grants alleged herein, towards

35. Defendants' longstanding participation of this scheme and issuance of false and misleading statements to conceal their misconduct had the effect of misleading investors about the Company's true financial condition when, in fact, Sonic was not recording material amounts of compensation expense and was materially overstating its net income and earnings per share, in violation of GAAP and causing the Company's stock price to be artificially inflated.

36. These violations were material and enabled Sonic to massively overstate its earnings throughout the Class Period. For example, in FY03, Sonic reported net income of $2.5 million. However, because of Sonic's backdating of stock options, its restatement admits that Sonic's net income was overstated by $4.4 million, and Sonic should have reported a net loss of $1.8 million. Similarly, in FY02, Sonic's net income was overstated by 84.5%. In 2004, Sonic's net income was overstated by 86%. The backdating of stock options also caused Sonic's earnings per share to be overstated. For example, in FY03, Sonic reported earnings per share of $0.13. However, the Company admits that it overstated earnings by $0.26 per share and should have reported a net loss of $0.11. In 2004, Sonic's earnings per share were overstated by 84%. In 2005, Sonic's earnings per share were overstated by 59%.

37. In order to conceal the falsity of the Company's financial statements, inadequacy of its internal controls, and the fraudulent issuance and manipulation of the Company's stock option grants, defendants falsely assured shareholders that financial statements and associated representations were accurate. Indeed, during the Class Period, defendants Doris and Leighton claimed that they had investigated and reviewed the Company's financial statements and internal control processes and authorized the inclusion of the financial statements in the Company's public filings. Between 2002 and 2006, defendants Doris and Leighton signed numerous false certifications pursuant to the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 ("Sarbanes-Oxley") §§302 and 906. For example, Doris's Sarbanes-Oxley certification filed with the Company's 2003 Form 10-K affirms:

- I, Robert J. Doris, President, certify that:
- 1. I have reviewed this annual report on Form 10-K of Sonic Solutions;
- 2. Based on my knowledge, this annual report does not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which such statements were made, not misleading with respect to the period covered by this annual report;
- 3. Based on my knowledge, the financial statements, and other financial information included in this annual report, fairly present in all material respects the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the registrant as of, and for, the periods presented in this annual report;
- 4. The registrant's other certifying officer and I are responsible for establishing and maintaining disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Exchange Act Rules 13a-14 and 15d-14) for the registrant and we have:
 - a) designed such disclosure controls and procedures to ensure that material information relating to the registrant, including its consolidated subsidiaries, is made known to us by others within those entities, particularly during the period in which this annual report is being prepared;

- c) presented in this annual report our conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures based on our evaluation as of the Evaluation Date;
- 5. The registrant's other certifying officer and I have disclosed, based on our most recent evaluation, to the registrant's auditors and the audit committee of registrant's board of directors (or persons performing the equivalent function):
 - a) all significant deficiencies in the design or operation of internal controls which could adversely affect the registrant's ability to record, process, summarize and report financial data and have identified for the registrant's auditors any material weaknesses in internal controls; and
 - b) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves management or other employees who have a significant role in the registrant's internal controls; and
- 6. The registrant's other certifying officer and I have indicated in this annual report whether or not there were significant changes in internal controls or in other factors that could significantly affect internal controls subsequent to the date of our most recent evaluation, including any corrective actions with regard to significant deficiencies and material weaknesses.
- 38. In fact, however, defendants knew and failed to disclose that for years, the Company, its senior executives and members of the Board, had engaged in a continuing scheme and course of conduct to backdate or misdate stock option grants to themselves and other executives and employees in a manner designed to create immediate and risk free profits in direct contravention of the Company's shareholder-approved stock option plans and statements made in the Company's public filings.
- 39. Defendants' manipulation of and, in particular, the backdating of stock option grants was not permitted under the contractual terms of the Company's stock option plans. Instead, defendants' manipulation of Sonic's stock option grants was the linchpin of a broader fraudulent scheme to personally profit from increases in the Company's stock price with the benefit of hindsight, and to provide undisclosed compensation to Sonic's employees while fraudulently failing to disclose or expense such compensation.
- 40. Furthermore, defendants knew or were deliberately reckless in not knowing that because the Company had not properly recorded compensation expense for in-the-money stock option grants, as required by APB 25, Sonic's reported earnings and expenses were false and misleading and not in compliance with GAAP. Thus, by falsifying the date on which options were granted, defendants materially understated Sonic's expenses, overstated its reported income and earnings per share ("EPS") and falsely represented that it had not incurred any compensation expense for option grants. If options are priced below a stock's fair market value when they are awarded, there is an instant gain. Pursuant to APB 25, the Company was obligated to recognize this gain as compensation expense over the vesting period of the option. After June 2005, Statement of Financial Accounting Standards 123, "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation" ("SFAS 123"), required that the Company recognize the entire value of all option grants on the grant date amortized over the vesting period of the option. However, as defendants have now admitted, Sonic did not properly account for the backdated option grants.

B. Insider Stock Sales

41. At the same time that defendants were secretly issuing themselves and other Sonic executives and employees backdated stock options and falsifying the Company's financial statements, certain defendants were unloading over a million shares of Sonic stock for a total of $23.5 million in insider trading proceeds during the Class Period:

C. Public Reports Disclose Widespread Stock Options Manipulation and Risks

42. In late 2005 and early 2006, a number of incidents involving stock option backdating and "spring loading" by public companies began to surface, including SEC investigations, executive resignations and financial restatements. On March 18, 2006, The Wall Street Journal published an article titled, "The Perfect Payday" raising questions over whether several public companies had been manipulating stock option grants to enrich executives by backdating these grants to lower prices or granting options to executives ahead of the release of positive corporate news. While Sonic was not implicated in the growing backdating scandal at the time, this was soon to change.

- 43. In May, 2006, the Center for Financial Research and Analysis ("CFRA") issued a report: "Options Backdating Which Companies Are at Risk?" The report identified the risks for companies that engaged in options backdating:
 - SEC investigation risk The SEC has begun informal investigations at many companies in recent months and has also begun to call for improved disclosure around all areas of executive compensation.
 - Accounting restatement risk Some companies which have admitted backdating options have accompanied those admissions with financial restatements impacting both the balance sheet and earnings.
 - Tax/Cash implications The change in options from the practice of options backdating may force some companies to restate tax positions for the years in question, which could result in an obligation to pay back taxes.
 - Management credibility risk If a reputable management team is found to have repeatedly backdated options, thereby enriching themselves at the expense of shareholders, the reputation of management (and the related stock premium for superior management) could take a hit.
- 44. On September 19, 2006, the Office of the SEC's Chief Accountant issued a letter discussing APB 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees," expressing the views of the Office of the Chief Accountant. Ex. 7. The SEC's letter gave guidance on several potentially problematic stock option granting practices, including those that would evidence fraud. Specifically, the Chief Accountant's letter highlighted the inferences of misconduct which could be drawn from facts such as those present in this case, e.g., a pattern of option grants at or near the low stock price of a period and the absence of documentation evidencing the grant:

The impropriety of backdating is obvious. Indeed, Judge Breyer held in United States v. Reyes, No. C 06-00556 CRB, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 41632 (N.D. Cal. May 30, 2007) (order denying a motion to dismiss indictment), a criminal trial regarding the backdating of stock options:

The goal of APB 25 is straightforward: it requires companies to record the "intrinsic value" of an option at the time it is granted. In other words, if an in-the-money option is granted, then APB 25 requires a company to record as compensation the amount by which the market price exceeds the strike price.

The existence of a pattern of past option grants with an exercise price equal to or near the lowest price of the entity's stock during the time period surrounding those grants could indicate that the terms of those grants were determined with hindsight. Further, in some cases, the absence of documentation, in combination with other relevant factors, may provide evidence of fraudulent conduct.

Id.

45. As alleged herein, Sonic did not have documentation to show when a large number of stock option grants were actually granted or approved, and often could not definitively determine the original measurement date.

order to record additional compensation expenses related to stock option issuances. The Company made very careful, limited disclosures concerning its review and possible restatement, including emphasizing that the results were preliminary. In addition, the Company indicated that accounting adjustments would not have any impact on previously reported cash and that the Company did not know which years might be affected. Importantly, the Company stated that it did not have the documentation surrounding the stock option grants at issue; additional indicia of fraud. Moreover, the press release was silent regarding whether the amount of the restatement would be material:

Based on the review to date, the audit committee and Company management have preliminarily concluded that, under applicable accounting guidance, the Company lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical option grants and that the measurement dates associated with these option grants may need to be adjusted...

The audit committee continues to analyze the impact of this issue, but believes it will result in significant non-cash charges. These charges will principally affect prior fiscal years, and the Company believes that the accounting adjustments will not have any impact on previously reported cash positions or revenues. The Company has not yet determined the amount or materiality of any such non-cash charges, any resulting cash charges associated with tax issues, or accounting or other consequences.

Although the timeframe for completing the review is uncertain, the Company continues to be focused on completing this review in a timely manner. Based on the preliminary conclusions of the review, the audit committee and management believe that the Company will need to restate its previously issued financial statements in order to record additional non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense. However, given that the audit committee review is still ongoing, the audit committee has not yet determined which years or periods will need to be restated.

Accordingly, the audit committee, after consultation with management and the Company's board of directors, determined that the Company's annual and interim financial statements should no longer be relied upon. Given these circumstances, the Company expects that it will not be in a position to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended December 31, 2006 in a timely manner.

Ex. 1.

- 47. On February 2, 2007, as a result of the February 1, 2007 revelations, Sonic's stock price dropped from a closing price of $18.03 on February 1, 2007 to $16.68 on February 2, 2007 on over 1.1 million shares traded, which was over four times the volume of February 1, 2007.
- 48. On February 15, 2007 Sonic issued a press release announcing disappointing preliminary financial results for the quarter ended December 31, 2006 and disclosing select additional information regarding its stock option review. Contrary to what it disclosed in its February 1, 2007 press release, Sonic for the first time revealed that it expected the amount of charges to be material:

The Company's selected preliminary results and guidance may be adjusted as a result of possible restatement of historical results. As previously announced on February 1, 2007, Sonic has commenced a voluntary review of its historical and current stock option grant practices and related accounting. Based on the review, the audit committee and Sonic management have preliminarily concluded that, under applicable accounting guidance, Sonic lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical option grants and that the measurement dates associated with these option grants will need to be adjusted. Further, as previously announced, the audit committee, after consultation with management and the Company's board of directors, has determined that the Company's annual and interim financial statements may no longer be relied upon.

Sonic believes it will have to record additional non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense and restate previous financial statements, and that such charges will be material. Sonic is not yet able to determine the amount of such charges or the resulting tax and accounting impact of these actions. . . .

All results and guidance reported today are presented without taking into account any adjustments to either current or previously reported results that may be required in connection with any restatement and should be considered preliminary until Sonic files its quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the third quarter ended December 31, 2006 and any required amended historical financial statements.

Ex. 8.

- 49. On February 16, 2007, in light of the Company's revelations including the materiality of its expected charges, Sonic's stock price dropped from a high of $16.20 on February 15, 2007 to as low as $13.75 on February 16, 2007 on 2,080,300 volume shares traded, as compared to only 196,000 shares traded on February 15, 2007.
- 50. On May 17, 2007, Sonic issued a press release containing preliminary financial results and providing, among other things, additional information on the Company's stock option review. The May 17, 2007 press release revealed for the first time that Sonic now expected to "have to record additional cash and non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense and restate previous financial statements, and that such charges will be material."

The Company's selected preliminary results and guidance may be adjusted as a result of the expected restatement of historical results. As previously announced on February 1, 2007, Sonic has commenced a voluntary review of its historical and current stock option grant practices and related accounting. Based on the review, the audit committee and Sonic management have concluded that, under applicable accounting guidance, Sonic lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical option grants and that the measurement dates associated with these option grants will need to be adjusted. Further, as previously announced, the audit committee, after consultation with management and the Company's board of directors, has determined that the Company's annual and interim financial statements may no longer be relied upon.

Sonic believes it will have to record additional cash and non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense and restate previous financial statements, and that such charges will be material. Sonic is not yet able to determine the amount of such charges or the resulting tax and accounting impact of these actions. Sonic intends to file its restated financial results and related periodic reports as quickly as possible.

Ex. 9.

- 51. On May 18, 2007, Sonic's stock price dropped from a high of $13.37 on May 17, 2007, to a low of $12.08 on May 18, 2007 on 1,843,600 volume shares traded. That was compared to only 550,500 shares traded on May 17, 2007.
- 52. On February 26, 2008, the Company filed its Form 10-K with the SEC for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2007, finally detailing, in part, the broadbased manipulation of stock option [CORRECTED] CONSOLIDATED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE issuances. The overwhelming majority of categories of stock option grants during the Relevant Period were admittedly granted and/or accounted for improperly. The Company has re-priced, now claimed to be properly in accordance with APB 25, grants described as founder director grants, non-founder Section 16 officer grants, other employee grants, hiring grants, salary reduction grants, and acquisition related grants. While many categories of stock option grants admittedly violated GAAP, certain grants, made by defendant Doris were the most egregious in terms of impact on the financial statements:

Other Employee Grants

Under each of our various options plans, our CEO was delegated the authority to make grants to employees other than executive officers. As described above, except in particular circumstances . . . the Company employed a quarterly-focused grant process for non-founder employees and generally lack contemporaneous grant documentation sufficient to support the Record Dates for these option grants.

[W]e analyzed all available relevant information for each stock option grant in an attempt to determine the earliest point in time at which the evidence reasonably shows that all requisites for the establishment of a measurement date under APB No. 25 were satisfied. Except in specific circumstances (see Hiring Grants, Salary Reduction Grants, Acquisition-Related Grants and Other, below), or where we were able to locate contemporaneous grant documentation, this approach generally has resulted in our determining that the most appropriate measurement dates occur some time after the original Record Date in our records, often the date on which final Periodic Spreadsheets were sent to or received from the outside accounting firm we used for financial statement calculations, or the date on which we filed our quarterly or annual reports with respect to the grant(s) in question.

Given the generally upward trend of our stock price during a substantial portion of the Review Period, moving to these "end of quarter" measurement dates generally results in a larger compensation charge and restatement amount.

Ex. 6.

53. Further, defendants admit that the members of the Board (comprised of defendants Doris, Sauer, Greber, Marguglio and Langley) knew that defendant Doris was issuing stock options in violation of the specific terms of shareholder approved stock option plans but did nothing to prevent these violations or to make certain that stock options were issued at fair market value on the date of the grant or that they were accounted for appropriately. These grants were also restated/repriced to reflect to proper measurement dates and compensation expense:

Non-Founder Section 16 Officer Grants

Prior to September 23, 2005, our CEO would typically make grants to our non-founder executive officer(s) who are considered "executive officers" for purposes of Section 16 of the Exchange Act in the same manner as he would for non-executive employees of the Company. Pursuant to the delegation to him under our various option plans, the CEO generally did not have express authority to grant options to Section 16 officers, as this power was reserved for the board. Nevertheless, these grants were made in a consistent fashion and it is apparent that our board was aware of these option grants and did not disapprove of them. . . .

We concluded that, based on the facts and circumstances, the most appropriate and reasonable approach to these grants is to apply all APB No. 25 criteria in the same manner as such criteria are being applied to grants to our non-management employees (see discussion Other Employee Grants below) that is, to recognize and acknowledge the existence of these grants, but to change measurement dates where there is insufficient information to reasonably conclude that the original Record Date satisfies the requirements of APB No. 25.

Ex. 6.

54. These admissions, coupled with the undeniable results of Lead Plaintiffs' investigation regarding the timing of Sonic's historical stock option grants, shows a pattern of misconduct and false and misleading statements perpetrated by Sonic's highest level executives and directors. Lead Plaintiffs suffered damages when this misconduct was revealed in a series of partial disclosures causing Sonic's stock price to decline.

IV. DEFENDANTS' FRAUDULENT SCHEME AND FALSE AND MISLEADING STATEMENTS DURING THE CLASS PERIOD

- 70. Throughout the Class Period, and dating back as early as 1996, Sonic routinely backdated stock option grants to its employees and executives in violation of their shareholder-approved stock option plans. Sonic then issued false and misleading statements, including press releases, Forms 10-K, Forms 10-Q, and Proxy Statements, which failed to account for or disclose the backdated stock options that were being issued by defendants.
- 71. While Sonic's restatement carefully attempts to avoid discussing what actually took place at Sonic to cause its $29 million restatement, Lead Plaintiffs' investigation has revealed a clear and unambiguous pattern of stock option grants so fortuitously timed that backdating is the only plausible explanation.

- 72. From 1996 until 2004, Sonic's public filings with the SEC disclose twenty-four separate dates on which stock option grants were purportedly granted. Of these twenty-four grant dates, ten grants were non-discretionary grants to Sonic's directors under the 1994 Directors Plan. Because these grants fell on the day of, or the day after Sonic's annual shareholder meeting, they were not easy to manipulate. However, as detailed herein, of the fourteen discretionary grants reported between 1996 and 2004, eight grants were purportedly granted on dates where Sonic's stock price was trading at least at its lowest price of the month, and in some instances, at its lowest price of the fiscal quarter or fiscal year. Such an astounding pattern can only be the result of deliberate and systematic backdating by the individuals charged with administering Sonic's stock option plans the Board and the CEO.
- 73. The practice and pattern of backdating stock option grants at Sonic began as early as 1996. This pattern of stock option backdating, which began even before the Class Period, coupled with defendants' most recent admissions, shows that defendants' misconduct was not merely an isolated occurrence, but was part of a scheme which lasted for at least eight years.
- 74. False and Misleading October 23, 2002 Press Release: On October 23, 2002, Sonic issued a press release reporting its financial results of its second quarter ended September 30, 2002. The repeated financial results, as well as earnings projections, were materially false and misleading and presented in violation of GAAP due to the Company's failure to properly expense stock options in accordance with APB 25.

Net revenue for the second quarter was $27.9 million, and pro forma net loss was $169,000, or $0.01 per basic and diluted share, excluding non-cash charges related to the amortization of intangible assets and deferred stock-based compensation. This compares with net revenue of $30.5 million and pro forma net income of $2.0 million, or $0.12 per basic and diluted share, for the second quarter of the prior fiscal year.

* * *

We are aggressively managing expenses and significantly reduced costs on a sequential basis. We expect revenues in the third fiscal quarter to be approximately $25 million and to incur a proforma net loss of up to $2.4 million, or $0.12 per share . . .

False and Misleading November 14, 2002 Form 10-Q: On November 14, 2002, Sonic

During the Class Period, defendants issued a series of false and misleading statements

- filed a quarterly report on Form 10-Q with the SEC that was signed by Doris and Leighton. The Form 10-Q included Sonic's quarterly financial statements for the quarter ended September 30, 2002, which were materially false and misleading due to the failure to disclose the backdating of stock option grants and presented in violation of GAAP due to the Company's failure to properly expense stock options in accordance with APB 25. As a result, Sonic's compensation expense was understated and thus its net loss was materially understated. The Form 10-Q also contained SOX certifications signed by Doris and Leighton attesting to accuracy of Sonic's financial statements, and the adequacy of Sonic's internal controls.
- 77. False and Misleading February 14, 2003 Form 10-Q: On February 14, 2003, Sonic filed a quarterly report on Form 10-Q with the SEC that was signed by Doris and Leighton. 27

78. On March 11, 2003, defendants granted Leighton an option for 200,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $3.97 per share. That was the lowest price of the month, and the remainder of the calendar year.

- 79. False and Misleading FY03 Form 10-K: On June 26, 2003, Sonic filed its 2003 Annual Report on Form 10-K with the SEC, which was signed by Doris, Sauer, Greber, Marguglio, Langley and Leighton. The 2003 Form 10-K repeated the false earnings results reported in Sonic's May 21, 2003 press release (Ex. 10), and included Sonic's false 2003 quarterly and year-end financial statements, which were materially false and misleading and presented in violation of GAAP due to the Company's failure to properly expense stock options in accordance with APB 25. As a result, Sonic's reported compensation expense was materially understated and its net loss was materially understated.
- 80. Additionally, the Form 10-K falsely stated that Sonic properly accounted for stock options in accordance with APB 25:

We follow Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees."

81. In addition, the 2003 Form 10-K falsely stated that the Company issued stock options at an exercise price equal to the fair market value of the Company's stock on the date of the grant,

- 83. False and Misleading 2003 Proxy Statement: On July 29, 2003, Sonic filed its 2003 Proxy Statement on Form 14A with the SEC. The 2003 Proxy Statement falsely stated that options were granted at an exercise price equal to the fair market value of the Company's stock on the date of the grant.

The exercise price is equal to the fair market value of Sonic's common stock on the date of grant, as determined by reference to the closing price of Sonic's common stock on the Nasdaq National Market.

- 84. False and Misleading August 14, 2003 Form 10-Q: On August 14, 2003, Sonic filed a quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2003 with the SEC which was signed by Doris and Leighton. The Form 10-Q included Sonic's quarterly financial statements, repeating false earnings results reported in its July 30, 2003 press release (Ex. 11). The statements were materially false and misleading and presented in violation of GAAP due to the Company's failure to properly expense stock options in accordance with APB 25. As a result, Sonic's compensation expense was materially understated and its net earnings were materially overstated. The Form 10-Q also contained SOX certifications signed by Doris and Leighton attesting to accuracy of Sonic's financial statements, and the adequacy of Sonic's internal controls.
- 85. The Form 10-Q included Sonic's quarterly financial statements repeating false earnings results reported in its February 4, 2004 press release (Ex. 13), which were materially false and misleading and presented in violation of GAAP due to the Company's failure to properly expense stock options in accordance with APB 25. As a result, Sonic's compensation expense was materially understated and its net earnings were materially overstated. The Form 10-Q also contained SOX certifications signed by Doris and Leighton attesting to accuracy of Sonic's financial statements, and the adequacy of Sonic's internal controls.

87. On May 10, 2004, defendants purportedly granted Leighton an option for 100,000 shares of Sonic stock at a strike price of $17.49 per share. $17.49 was the lowest price of Sonic's stock for April-June, 2004.

88. False and Misleading FY04 Form 10-K: On June 14, 2004, Sonic filed its 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004 with the SEC, which was

While Sonic was routinely late in filing Form 4's with the SEC relating to stock option grants, this grant to Leighton was reported on May 12, 2004. However, by this time, Sonic stock price had risen 5.6% from $17.49 on May 10, 2004 to $18.53 on May 12, 2004 giving Leighton an instant profit of $104,000—or almost half his annual salary for the fiscal year, which was $215,000.

The exercise price is equal to the fair market value of Sonic's common stock on the date of grant, as determined by reference to the closing price of Sonic's common stock on the Nasdaq National Market.

92. The 2004 Proxy Statement also discussed the Company's 2004 fiscal year, and specifically stated that Sonic had not recorded any compensation expense relating to in the money options, and further assured investors that the Company was complying with APB 25 and issuing options consistent with the Company's stock option plans.

During fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, the board did not have a compensation committee. In March 2004, the board determined that the members of the audit committee (Greber, Marguglio and Langley) shall also function as members of the compensation committee to assist the board in determining the compensation

February 1, 2007, the Company issued a press release entitled "Sonic Announces Voluntary Review of Stock Option Accounting." The press release explained that notwithstanding assurances that the Company had issued stock option at fair market value on the date stock options were granted, and that the Company properly expensed for stock options in accordance with GAAP and APB 25, that the Company's annual and interim financial results could no longer be relied upon, and that the Company would need to restate previously issued financial statements in order to record additional compensation expenses related to stock option issuances. Sonic carefully worded its disclosures concerning its review and possible restatement, emphasizing that the results were preliminary. In addition, the Company indicated that accounting adjustments would not have any import on previously reported cash and that the Company did not know which years might be affected.⁸ The press release was silent regarding whether the amount of restatement was material. The press release failed to disclose material facts which were known to defendants at the time, including that the restatement would be material and would require cash charges.

Sonic Solutions... announced today that it has commenced a voluntary review of its historical and current stock option grant practices and related accounting.

Based on the review to date, the audit committee and Company management have preliminarily concluded that, under applicable accounting guidance, the Company lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical option grants and that the measurement dates associated with these option grants may need to be adjusted. Based also on this review, the Company believes that its current options granting practices are generally acceptable and meet relevant standards for properly documenting grant dates.

The audit committee continues to analyze the impact of this issue, but believes it will result in significant non-cash charges. These charges will principally affect prior fiscal years, and the Company believes that the accounting adjustments will not have any impact on previously reported cash positions or revenues. The Company has not yet determined the amount or materiality of any such non-cash charges, any resulting cash charges associated with tax issues, or accounting or other consequences. Although the timeframe for completing the review is uncertain, the Company continues to be focused on completing this review in a timely manner. Based on the preliminary conclusions of the review, the audit committee and management believe that the Company will need to restate its previously issued financial statements in order to record additional non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense. However, given that the audit committee review is still ongoing, the audit committee has not yet determined which years or periods will need to be restated.

Accordingly, the audit committee, after consultation with management and the Company's board of directors, determined that the Company's annual and interim financial statements should no longer be relied upon. Given these circumstances, the Company expects that it will not be in a position to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended December 31, 2006 in a timely manner.

Option Grant Investigation Creates Near-Term Cloud, Business Fundamentals Unchanged; Maintaining $19 Target and BUY Rating SNIC announced yesterday that the company's audit committee had commenced a review of its historical and current stock options practices. Preliminary results indicate that the company lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical grants and that the measurement dates associated with those grants may need to be adjusted. The company believes its current options practices are generally acceptable and meet the relevant standards for documenting option grants. The expected impact of these findings is a significant non-cash charge, principally associated with stock compensations expenses in prior year periods. . . . These preliminary findings most certainly draft a near-term cloud over SNIC as the investigation could take a couple of months to complete, by our estimation. The company has notified the SEC of the investigation and, as its accounting practices are put under the microscope, there is some potential that more issues are

We expect the stock to trade down today and it may remain weak until the option investigation reaches completion. SNIC will not report full financial statements until the investigation and restatements are completed.

Based on the February 1, 2007 revelations, on February 2, 2007 Sonic's stock price 111. dropped sharply from a closing price of $18.03 on February 1, 2007 to $16.68 on February 2, 2007 on over 1.1 million shares traded: over four times the volume of February 1, 2007.

112. Partial Disclosure and False and Misleading February 15, 2007 Press Release: On February 15, 2007 Sonic issued a press release announcing disappointing preliminary financial results for the quarter ended December 31, 2006 and providing select, incomplete information regarding their stock option review. Contrary to what Sonic disclosed in its February 1, 2007 press release, Sonic for the first time revealed that it expected the amount of charges to be material.

The Company's selected preliminary results and guidance may be adjusted as a result of possible restatement of historical results. As previously announced on February 1, 2007, Sonic has commenced a voluntary review of its historical and current stock option grant practices and related accounting. Based on the review, the audit committee and Sonic management have preliminarily concluded that, under applicable accounting guidance, Sonic lacks sufficient documentation for certain historical option grants and that the measurement dates associated with these option grants will need to be adjusted. Further, as previously announced, the audit committee, after consultation with management and the Company's board of directors, has determined that the Company's annual and interim financial statements may no longer be relied upon.

Sonic believes it will have to record additional non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense and restate previous financial statements, and that such charges will be material. Sonic is not yet able to determine the amount of such charges or the resulting tax and accounting impact of these actions. Sonic intends to file its restated financial results and related periodic reports as quickly as possible.

All results and guidance reported today are presented without taking into account any adjustments to either current or previously reported results that may be required in connection with any restatement and should be considered preliminary until Sonic files its quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the third quarter ended December 31, 2006 and any required amended historical financial statements. Investors are cautioned that Sonic is unable to provide reconciliations to corresponding U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP") measures for the non-GAAP information provided in this press release due to the ongoing options practice and accounting review. The non-GAAP information includes those measures that exclude stock based compensation costs and/or other expenses that would otherwise be included in the applicable GAAP measures.

Dave Habiger – Sonic Solutions – CEO

Welcome everyone, and thank you for joining us. Today we're reporting financial results for the third fiscal quarter. As our press release points out, because of the stock option review that we previously announced, we're reporting only selected financial results today.

Clay Leighton – Sonic Solutions – CFO

Thank you, Dave. Before I begin, I'd like to remind you that Sonic has commenced a voluntary review of its historical and current stock option grant practices and related accounting. All results and guidance reported today are presented without taking into account any adjustments to either current or previous reported results that may be required in connection with any restatement and should be considered preliminary until Sonic files its quarterly reports on Form 10Q for the third quarter ended December 31st, 2006 and any required amended historical financial statements.

During the quarter, we incurred the following operating expense. All amounts exclude stock based compensation costs, which could be substantial. Marketing and sales was $8.0 million; research and development, $10.9 million; general and administrative, $4.8 million; acquired in-process R&D, $3.5 million. This acquired in-process R&D charge relates to the System OK acquisition.

Details

In light of the options investigation, Sonic reported preliminary financials, which did not include any stock-based compensation or an EPS number. Nor did the company issue a balance sheet.

- 115. On February 16, 2007, in light of the Company's further revelations including the materiality of its expected charges, Sonic's stock price dropped from a high of $16.20 on February 15, 2007 to as low as $13.75 on February 16, 2007 on 2,080,300 volume shares traded. That was compared to only 196,000 shares traded on February 15, 2007.
- 116. During the following months, Sonic's stock price continued to decline as the Company's "investigation" dragged on, and securities analysts covering the Company became increasingly bearish, in part as a result of Sonic's investigation and stock option practices.
- 117. The Class Period ends on May 17, 2007, when Sonic issued a press release containing preliminary financial results and providing additional information on the Company's stock option review. The May 17, 2007 press release stated, contrary to previous press releases, that Sonic now expected to "have to record additional cash and non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense and restate previous financial statements, and that such charges will be material."

1 Sonic believes it will have to record additional cash and non-cash charges for stock-based compensation expense and restate previous financial statements, and that such charges will be material. Sonic is not yet able to determine the amount of such 2 charges or the resulting tax and accounting impact of these actions. Sonic intends to 3 file its restated financial results and related periodic reports as quickly as possible. Ex. 9. 4 5 118. During Sonic's conference call that evening, Sonic's analysts questioned Leighton regarding these latest disclosures: 6 7 Alan Davis Clay, one last question. In the wording on the stock options review, cash costs being 8 material, I wonder if there's any change there from what you've said prior, in terms of the potential cash costs of the options review. 9 Clay Leighton Well, we haven't -- are you referring to the cost of completing the review itself, or 10 the eventual charges that we might have to take on our income statement related to the review itself, related to --11 12 Alan Davis Both combined, actually. 13 Clay Leighton 14 In terms of the cost of doing the review, meaning the cost of the lawyers and the accountants and the like, I estimate that this quarter is likely to be a charge of $2.5 million or potentially more on that, in addition to the $600,000 that we recorded in 15 the March quarter. In terms of the actual charges we might take, until we actually complete the review, it's very hard to comment on that, except that there may be both 16 cash and noncash charges associated with the conclusion of the review. 17 Alan Davis 18 But that $2.5 million is cash? 19 Clay Leighton That is cash. That's the cost of hiring all the outside experts from our accountants to 20 lawyers, et cetera, who were involved in this process. 21 Alan Davis And that's all in the current quarter? 22 Clay Leighton 23 That would be my estimate for the current quarter, yes. 24 119. On May 18, 2007, Sonic's stock price dropped from a high of $13.37 on May 17, 25 2007, to a low of $12.08 on May 18, 2007 on 1,843,600 volume shares traded. That was compared 26 to only 550,500 shares traded on May 17, 2007.

DEFENDANTS KNEW OR DELIBERATELY DISREGARDED THAT THE COMPANY'S FINANCIAL STATEMENTS, PROXY STATEMENTS AND STATEMENTS REGARDING THE COMPANY'S ACCOUNTING PRACTICES WERE FALSE AND MISLEADING

120. Defendants' repeated statements that the Company issued stock options with an exercise price equal to 100% of the stock price on the date of the grant (E.g., ¶¶81, 90-91, 98, 100) were materially false and misleading, and the Company and the Individual Defendants made these statements knowingly, intentionally, or with deliberate recklessness disregarded that the Company had, in fact, retroactively selected dates favorable to the grant recipients, representing monthly stock price lows, and in some instances, representing the lowest price of a particular fiscal quarter or year. Further, the retroactive selection of grant dates suspiciously and repeatedly occurred immediately before sharp increases in the Company's stock price, giving the grantee an instant paper gain that was not disclosed to shareholders or investors.

121. Defendants' repeated statements that Sonic accounted for stock option issuance in accordance with GAAP and APB 25 were also knowingly false and misleading. E.g., ¶80, 89, 97, 106. APB 25 requires that stock options be recorded as an expense on the measurement date of the option grant, i.e., the date of the grant. Defendants knew or deliberately disregarded that Sonic had in fact not taken the proper compensation expense during the Class Period for stock option grants that were issued "in-the-money" and/or were also retroactively selected to create unearned paper profits not disclosed to shareholders and investors. In fact, because the Company has admitted that it did not have the documentation evidencing the measurement dates or grant dates, it could not accurately account for stock options and defendants knew or deliberately disregarded the facts at the time they issued quarterly and year-end financial results, and made statements concerning manner in which stock options were issued. Indeed, the members of the Sonic Board and CEO, who were specifically charged with administering the Company's stock option plans knew or should have known that the statements were false and misleading. Further, defendants Marguglio, Greber and Langley were members of the Company's Audit Committee during the Class Period, and were responsible for the oversight of the Company's financial statements. All defendants, at times during the Relevant Period, executed false financial statements on Forms 10-K filed with the SEC.⁹

122. Because defendants knew or with deliberate recklessness disregarded that the Company had issued backdated stock options to defendants and Company executives and employees, and failed to take the compensation expense required by GAAP and APB 25, defendants also knew or with severe recklessness disregarded that Sonic's quarterly and annual earnings reports and related press releases were materially false and misleading. E.g., ¶76, 77, 79, 84-86, 88, 93-96, 102-05, 107, 108. Specifically, as detailed herein, Sonic overstated its net income, or understated its net loss, throughout the Class Period as a result of Sonic's failure to account for in-the-money stock option grants as required by APB 25. In each of those reports the Company affirmatively stated that it complied with GAAP. The Company's materially false quarterly and annual earnings reports caused Sonic's stock price to be artificially inflated, allowing the defendants to pocket huge insider trading profits on top of exercising and selling retroactively priced stock options for millions of dollars.

123. Finally, the SOX certifications signed by defendants Doris, Leighton and Habiger throughout the Class Period were knowingly false and misleading because they falsely attested to the accuracy of Sonic's financial statements, as well as the adequacy of Sonic internal controls. E.g., ¶¶76, 77, 79, 82, 84-86, 88, 93-96, 102-05, 107, 108. As Sonic's restatement makes clear, the Company either lacked any semblance of internal controls with respect to the granting of stock options or disregarded those controls entirely. Indeed, Sonic has admitted that:

For a large portion of options issued by us, particularly prior to September 23, 2005 . . . , there is little or no contemporaneous grant-specific documentation that satisfies the requirements for "measurement dates" under APB No. 25 and that would allow us to maintain the original grant date used for accounting purposes (the "Record Date"). Much of the transaction-specific documentation that was available

If [defendants] had been so involved with granting options as plaintiff pleads, they would have either known, or been deliberately reckless in not knowing, that stock options were not being issued at fair market value on the date of the grant.

Stock options do not grant, or backdate, themselves. As the court in In Re Zoran Corp. Derivative Litig., 511 F. Supp. 2d 986, 1613 (N.D. Cal. 2007):

in our records was unhelpful in establishing the date on which all required APB No. 25 elements were satisfied.

- 124. Sonic's Board, defendants Doris, Sauer, Greber, Marguglio and Langley all knew, or were deliberately recklessness with respect to the accuracy of, their statements that stock options were issued at 100% of fair market value and that Sonic accounted for stock options in accordance with GAAP and APB 25. Further, defendants Doris, Sauer, Greber, Marguglio and Langley all knew, or were deliberately recklessness with respect to the accuracy of Sonic's financial statements throughout the class period which admittedly understated Sonic's compensation expenses and overstated Sonic's net income and earnings per share.
- 125. Specifically, Sonic stated throughout the Relevant Period that it was "the responsibility of the entire Board to . . . administer the Company's executives compensation plans." In administering Sonic's stock option plans, the Board and Doris were given the authority to: "(i) to grant Options; (ii) to determine the fair market value of the Common Stock subject to Options; (iii) to determine the exercise price of Options granted; (iv) to determine the persons to whom, and the time or times at which, Options shall be granted, and the number of shares subject to each Option" In March 2005, Sonic's Audit Committee, consisting of defendants Greber, Marguglio and Langley, assumed the duties of a Compensation Committee.
- 126. As Sonic now admits in its February 26, 2008 Form 10-K, a substantial number of Sonic's stock options granted throughout the Relevant Period failed to comply with GAAP and were not correctly accounted for. Further, there was "little or no contemporaneous grant-specific documentation that satisfies the requirements for 'measurement dates' under APB No. 25" Ex. 6. Thus, defendants Doris, Sauer, Greber, Marguglio and Langley, who were specifically charged with administering Sonic's stock options plans knew, or were deliberately reckless with respect to, the accuracy of Sonic's statements regarding their accounting for stock options grants, and Sonic's financial statements.
- 127. Defendant Doris knew, or acted with deliberate recklessness with respect to, the accuracy of Sonic's statements that stock options were issued at 100% of fair market value and that Sonic accounted for stock options in accordance with GAAP and APB 25. Defendant Doris also 27 28 knew or was deliberately recklessness with respect to the accuracy of Sonic's financial statements. In addition to Doris's role as a director of Sonic, the Company's restatement reveals that, until September 2005, Doris had been delegated the authority to "make grants to employees other than executive officers." At least 57% of employee grants throughout the Relevant Period were backdated to correspond with periodic lows in Sonic's stock option price.

- 128. This was accomplished by assembling and finalizing grant documentation "in anticipation of quarterly SEC filings," and using as "as of" date which corresponded, more often than not with a periodic low in Sonic's stock price. See ¶136. Because the restatement admits that Doris was responsible for granting these backdated options, there can be no question that he was at least deliberately reckless with respect to the statements alleged herein to be false. These statements, including that Sonic granted options at 100% of fair market value and complied with APB 25, were directly contrary to the practices employed by defendant Doris in administering Sonic's stock option plans.
- 129. Defendant Leighton knew, or acted with deliberate recklessness with respect to, the accuracy of Sonic's statements that stock options were issued at 100% of fair market value and that Sonic accounted for stock options in accordance with GAAP and APB 25. Defendant Leighton also knew or was deliberately reckless with respect to the accuracy of Sonic's financial statements. Leighton signed off on Sonic's Forms 10-K throughout the Relevant Period. Leighton also signed SOX certifications attesting to the accuracy of Sonic's financial statements and the adequacy of Sonic's internal controls. However, at the same time as Leighton was certifying Sonic's financial statements and signing Forms 10-K stating that all of Sonic's stock options were granted at 100% of the fair market value, Leighton was himself receiving numerous backdated stock option grants. Specifically, plaintiffs allege that Leighton received backdated options on July 16, 1996, July 22, 1997, November 30, 2000, July 12, 2001, March 11, 2003, and May 10, 2004.
- 130. Leighton knew or should have known that the grants he was receiving were backdated, as they all purported to fall on dates that corresponded with periodic lows in Sonic's stock price. In spite of this, Leighton signed SEC filings and SOX certifications which repeatedly stated that all stock options were granted at 100% of the fair market value. Leighton also knew or was deliberately reckless in not realizing that Sonic was not expensing the grants of in-the-money as required by APB 25. Mr. Leighton is a sophisticated executive who holds an MBA and has served as a CFO or a Vice President of Finance for approximately 20 years. On February 25, 2008, Leighton was forced to step down from the role of CFO at Sonic.

VI. POST CLASS PERIOD EVENTS AND ADMISSIONS

131. On June 8, 2007 Maxim Group initiated coverage on Sonic, giving the Company a "sell" rating. One of the reasons for the sell recommendation was the ongoing options investigation:

Stock Option Grant remains an overhang

On February 1, 2007, the company started a voluntary review of its stock option grants. As a result, Sonic announced that it needed to adjust dates associated with some past options grants. Furthermore, the company has effectively withdrawn some of its previous financial statements, likely due to the impact of options grants, stating that its past financial results should no longer be relied upon. The company also stated that it intends to restate its past financial statements to reflect the results of the stock options audit.

Although we do not believe that the company did anything illegal with its past options grants, at the very least, we recommend that investors avoid the stock until the full financial impact is known.

- 132. On August 22, 2007, D.A. Davidson & Co. issued an analyst report titled "1Q08 Results Out Thursday; Lowering FY08 Estimates." The report stated that "we continue to view resolution of the stock options investigation as a catalyst for better performance from these shares."
- 133. On September 25, 2007, William Blair & Company issued a report entitled "A Diamond in the Digital Media Rough," which describes Sonic's options review as a negative uncertainty:

Options Investigation Could Create Overhang Until Resolved

On February 2, 2007, Sonic's management initiated a voluntary review of its historical and existing stock option grant practice and related accounting. Based on its review to date, Sonic lacks sufficient documentation for some historical grants and measurement dates, and the option grants may have to be adjusted. The likely outcome of this will be restated financials with noncash charges, although the company does not believe prior revenues or cash balances will be affected. Moreover, the company has not filed its recent 10-Q or 10-K for its March fiscal year-end.

134. On December 10, 2007, Canaccord Adams issued an analyst report entitled "Adjusting Estimates – Lowering March Quarter Revenue." The report expressed frustration that Sonic's options review remained ongoing. "Meanwhile, the winding down of the stock options review and subsequent filing of financials continues to drag on. While we had hoped the process would be completed by the end of the month, we would not be surprised if that were not the case."

135. On February 19, 2008, over a year after Sonic first announced the initiation of its stock option investigation, the Company filed yet another Notice of Delisting, warning investors that Sonic had still failed to complete its stock option review, and that it faced potential delisting as a result of its inability to timely file its financial statements.

136. On February 26, 2008, the Company filed its belated Form 10-K for FY07, which included its restatement of financial results for the entirety of the Class Period. Ex. 6. The restatement also included a discussion of the Company's stock option review. The review, which

The initial discovery phase of this litigation should be swift and inexpensive as the Company has already compiled many of the documents and e-mails that would be relevant to the alleged claims and possible defenses. For example, in its February 26, 2008 Form 10-K, the Company revealed:

During the course of the review, legal counsel to the Audit Committee, with the assistance of outside consultants, collected, processed and analyzed physical and electronic Company documents and records, including hard copy files, networked electronic documents and the computer hard drives of Company personnel who were involved in the administration of our stock option programs. Counsel to the Audit Committee was further assisted by an independent consulting firm engaged to assist in the collection, processing and analysis of options-related documentation. In all, approximately 665,000 electronic documents were collected and processed, and approximately 215,000 electronic documents and 35,000 pages of paper documents were reviewed. In addition, counsel conducted interviews of various Company personnel.

Supplementing the activities performed by and on behalf of the Audit Committee, our management engaged in a detailed process of compiling, analyzing and assessing the information available to it relating to our granting of stock options and administration of stock option plans during the Review Period. Information reviewed included, without limitation, documentation related to acquisitions and other transactions completed by us, public filings (by us and by individual grant recipients), board minutes and written consents, spreadsheets and databases used to memorialize and maintain option-related information, email communications and other transmittals of information to and from outside accountants, payroll information, standard forms used to record decisions regarding hiring and termination of employees and related salary and option grant decisions known as Employee Action Forms ("EAFs"), grant notices, offer letters, option statements, tax records, personnel files and other information.

Pursuant to the delegation to him under our various option plans, the CEO generally did not have express authority to grant options to Section 16 officers, as this power was reserved for the board. Nevertheless, these grants were made in a consistent fashion and it is apparent that our board was aware of these option grants and did not disapprove of them. . . .
- We concluded that, based on the facts and circumstances, the most appropriate and reasonable approach to these grants is to apply all APB No. 25 criteria in the same manner as such criteria are being applied to grants to our non-management employees (see discussion Other Employee Grants below) that is, to recognize and acknowledge the existence of these grants, but to change measurement dates where there is insufficient information to reasonably conclude that the original Record Date satisfies the requirements of APB No. 25.

Ex. 6.

137. The Company, in its February 26, 2008 Form 10-K, went to great lengths to obfuscate the details of the backdating at Sonic. Nonetheless, the Form 10-K describes a pattern and practice of backdating at Sonic. As the SEC's Chief Accountant stated in a letter regarding the various forms of options misconduct which have been seen by the SEC:

The existence of a pattern of past option grants with an exercise price equal to or near the lowest price of the entity's stock during the time period surrounding those grants could indicate that the terms of those grants were determined with hindsight. Further, in some cases, the absence of documentation, in combination with other relevant factors, may provide evidence of fraudulent conduct.

Ex. 7.

138. Further, the February 26, 2008 Form 10-K stated that "[t]he Audit Committee did not find evidence that the officers or directors with responsibility for administration of our stock option programs had taken steps to provide themselves with options at better prices than those granted to other employees." Ex. 6. In other words, certain officers and directors – believed to be Doris and

Leighton – received backdated stock options along with Sonic's regular employees. Such practices, however, are entirely consistent with intentional backdating.¹¹

139. Despite the fact that Sonic's practice of backdating stock options started prior to the beginning of the Class Period, Sonic has admitted that the failure to expense the granting of in-the-money stock options had the most significant effect on Sonic's financial statements in FY03, FY04 and FY05 – in the heart of the Class Period. As a result of Sonic's failure to properly account of stock option compensation expenses, Sonic's net income and earnings per share were inflated as shown in the following tables:

Another motivation for backdating options issued under broad-based plans might have been the cover it provided for executives to grant themselves backdated options. There is anecdotal evidence indicating that executives often were included in broad-based option grants that were backdated, but there is nothing to establish a causal connection. David I. Walker, Unpacking Backdating: Economic Analysis and Observations on the Stock Option Scandal, 87 B.U.L. Rev. 561 (2007).

SONIC'S FALSE FINANCIAL REPORTING IN VIOLATION OF GAAP VII.

- As a result of defendants' improper backdating of stock options, defendants caused Sonic to violate GAAP, SEC regulations and IRS rules and regulations.
- 141. Sonic's financial results for 1998-2006 were included in reports filed with the SEC and in other shareholder reports. In these reports, defendants represented that Sonic's financial results were presented in a fair manner and in accordance with GAAP.
- 142. Defendants' representations were false and misleading as to the financial information reported, as such financial information was not prepared in conformity with GAAP, nor was the financial information "a fair presentation" of the Company's financial condition and operations, causing the financial results to be presented in violation of GAAP and SEC rules.
- 143. GAAP consists of those principles recognized by the accounting profession as the conventions, rules, and procedures necessary to define accepted accounting practice at the particular time. Regulation S-X, to which the Company is subject as a registrant under the Exchange Act, 17 C.F.R. §210.4-01(a)(1), provides that financial statements filed with the SEC which are not prepared in compliance with GAAP, are presumed to be misleading and inaccurate.
- As alleged herein, defendants acted with scienter in that they: (a) had access to all internal data concerning the Company's stock option plans; (b) were solely responsible for establishing the terms of the option grants, including the choice of grant dates and exercise price; (c) knew or with deliberate recklessness disregarded that the public documents and statements issued or disseminated in the name of the Company were materially false, incomplete or misleading; (d) knew or with deliberate recklessness disregarded that such statements or documents would be issued or disseminated to the investing public; and (e) knowingly or with deliberate recklessness participated or acquiesced in the issuance or dissemination of such statements or documents as primary violations of the federal securities laws.
- 145. Further, given the importance of stock options issued as compensation to Sonic employees, defendants were keenly aware of the negative impact on Sonic's financial condition that would result if the Company did not comply with APB 25 and was required to report compensation expenses for gains incurred in connection with misdated option grants. Accordingly, it was of enormous significance to Sonic's earnings and business model that the Company qualify for favorable tax treatment under APB 25. By disguising backdated options by manipulating their grant dates, defendants were able to give significant additional immediate value to their employees' options, while Sonic continued to claim favorable account treatment, under-report compensation expenses, and inflate its earnings.

Violations of GAAP

- 146. During the Class Period, defendants caused the Company to understate its compensation expense by not properly accounting for its stock options under GAAP and thus overstated the Company's net earnings.
- 147. Under well-settled accounting principles in effect throughout the Class Period, Sonic did not need to record an expense for options granted to employees at the then-current market price ("at the money"). The Company was, however, required to record an expense in its financial statements for any options granted below the then-current market price. In order to provide Sonic's executives and employees with far more lucrative "in-the-money" options, while avoiding having to inform shareholders about millions of dollars incurred by the Company in compensation expenses (and without paying the IRS millions of dollars in employment taxes), defendants systematically falsified Company records to create the false appearance that options had been granted at the market price on an earlier date.
- 148. Throughout the Relevant Period, Sonic accounted for stock options using the intrinsic method described in APB 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees." Under APB 25, employers were required to record as an expense on their financial statements the "intrinsic value" of a fixed stock option on its "measurement date." An option that is "in-the-money" on the measurement date has intrinsic value, and the difference between its exercise price and the quoted market price must be recorded as compensation expense to be recognized over the vesting period of the option. Options that are "at the money" or "out of the money" on the measurement date need not be expensed. Excluding non-employee directors, APB 25 required employers to record compensation expenses on options granted to non-employees irrespective of whether they were "in-the-money" or not on the date of grant.

Sonic's GAAP Violations Were Material

149. The false and misleading statements and omissions defendants caused Sonic to make during the Class Period regarding its accounting were material, particularly in light of SEC guidance on materiality. SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin ("SAB") Topic 1M, "Materiality," summarizes GAAP definitions of materiality. Among other items, SAB Topic 1M says: "A matter is 'material' if there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable person would consider it important." It also stresses that materiality requires qualitative, as well as quantitative considerations. For example, if a known misstatement would cause a significant market reaction that reaction should be taken into account in determining the materiality of the misstatement.

150. SAB Topic 1M further states:

Among the considerations that may well render material a quantitatively small misstatement of a financial statement item are –

* * *

- whether the misstatement masks a change in earnings or other trends
- whether the misstatement hides a failure to meet analysts' consensus expectations for the enterprise

* * *

- whether the misstatement concerns a segment or other portion of the registrant's business that has been identified as playing a significant role in the registrant's operations or profitability.
- 151. SAB Topic 1M also says that an intentional misstatement of even immaterial items may be illegal and constitute material fraudulent financial reporting.

Sonic's Financial Statements Violated Fundamental Concepts of GAAP

- 152. Due to these accounting improprieties, the Company presented its financial results and statements in a manner that violated GAAP, which are described by the following statements:
- (a) The principle that interim financial reporting should be based upon the same accounting principles and practices used to prepare annual financial statements (APB Opinion No. 28, ¶10);

- (b) the principle that financial reporting should provide information that is useful to existing and potential investors and creditors and other users in making rational investment, credit and similar decisions (Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Statement of Concepts No. 1, ¶34);
- (c) the principle that financial reporting should provide information about the economic resources of an enterprise, the claims to those resources, and the effects of transactions, events and circumstances that change resources and claims to those resources (FASB Statement of Concepts No. 1, ¶40);
- (d) the principle that financial reporting should provide information about how management of an enterprise has discharged its stewardship responsibility to stockholders for the use of enterprise resources entrusted to it. To the extent that management offers securities of the enterprise to the public, it voluntarily accepts wider responsibilities for accountability to prospective investors and to the public in general (FASB Statement of Concepts No. 1, ¶50);
- (e) the principle that financial reporting should be reliable in that it represents what it purports to represent (FASB Statement of Concepts No. 2, ¶¶58-59);
- (f) the principle of completeness, which means that nothing material is left out of the information that may be necessary to insure that it validly represents underlying events and conditions (FASB Statement of Concepts No. 2, ¶79); and
- (g) the principle that conservatism be used as a prudent reaction to uncertainty to try to ensure that uncertainties and risks inherent in business situations are adequately considered (FASB Statement of Concepts No. 2, ¶¶95, 97).
- 153. Further, the undisclosed adverse information concealed by defendants during the Relevant Period is the type of information which, because of SEC regulations, regulations of the national stock exchanges and customary business practice, is expected by investors and securities analysts to be disclosed, and is known by corporate officials and their legal and financial advisors to be the type of information which is expected to be and must be disclosed.

Violations of the SEC Regulations

- During the Relevant Period, defendants caused Sonic to violate SEC regulations by failing to disclose that the Company's senior executives had been granted backdated stock options.
- 155. Under SEC Regulations, Item 8 of Form 14-A and Item 11 of Form 10-K, an issuer must furnish information required by Item 402 of Regulation S-K [17 C.F.R. §229.402]. Item 402(b) and (c) require a company to provide both a Summary Compensation Table and an Option/SAR Grants Table identifying the compensation of the named executive officers – the company's CEO and its next four most highly paid executives. Item 402 requires particularized disclosures involving a company's stock option grants in the last fiscal year. In the Summary Compensation Table, the issuer must identify in a column "other annual compensation" received by the named executives that is not properly categorized as salary or bonus, including any "[a]bove market or preferential earnings on restricted stock, options, SARs or deferred compensation" paid to the officer during the period. Item 402(b)(2)(iii)(C)(2). In the option grant table, the issuer must identify in a column "[t]he per-share exercise or base price of the options If such exercise or base price is less than the market price of the underlying security on the date of grant, a separate, adjoining column shall be added showing market price on the date of grant." Item 402(c)(2)(vii).
- Defendants caused Sonic to violate SEC regulations by failing to disclose that the 156. Company's named executive officers had been granted options with exercise prices below the market value on the date the Board approved the grant.

Violations of IRS Rules and Regulations

- 157. During the Relevant Period, defendants further caused Sonic to violate IRS rules and regulations due to its improper accounting for the backdated stock options. As a result, the Company's tax liabilities were understated exposing Sonic to potential amounts owed for back taxes, penalties and interest to the IRS for improperly reporting compensation.
- 158. Defendants caused the Company to violate IRS Code §162(m) which generally limits a publicly traded company's tax deductions for compensation paid to each of its named executive officers to $1 million unless the pay is determined to be "performance-based." In order for compensation to be performance-based, the Compensation Committee must have set pre-established and objective performance goals. The goals must then be approved by the shareholders. Section 162(m) defines stock options as performance-based provided they are issued at an exercise price that is no less than the fair market value of the stock on the date of the grant. Accordingly, properly issued stock options do not have to be taken into account in calculating whether an executive's compensation has exceeded the $1 million compensation cap.

- 159. Section 162(m), known as the $1 million rule, was enacted in 1993 in order to tie top executives' soaring pay packages more closely to a company's performance. This change in the tax law turned compensation practices for a company's top executives away from straight salary-based compensation to performance-based compensation, including stock options. According to former SEC Chairman Harvey Pitt: "What [162(m)] did was create incentives to find other forms of compensation so people could get over the $1 million threshold without running afoul of the code." (Alteration in original.)
- 160. Defendants caused Sonic to violate IRS Code §162(m) by providing backdated options to the Company's named executive officers which were granted with exercise prices that were less than the fair market value of the stock on the date of the grant. As a result all of the income resulting from the exercise of the options must be included for purposes of calculating whether the named executive's compensation exceeds the $1 million cap for federal tax purposes.
- 161. Defendants further caused the Company to violate IRS rules and regulations in order to avoid having to withhold income and FICA tax from its executives and employees upon the exercise of Sonic's stock options by improperly accounting for its Non-Qualified Stock Options ("NOSOs") as Incentive Stock Options ("ISOs").
- ISOs are a form of equity compensation that may be provided to a company's employees. ISOs are required to be granted at an exercise price that is no less than the fair market value of the stock on the date of the grant and are entitled to preferential tax treatment as they are not subject to income tax upon exercise of the options but only upon sale of the stock (except for the possible imposition of alternative minimum tax on the option spread at the time of exercise). Stock options that do not qualify as ISOs are considered to be NQSOs. NQSOs are not entitled to preferential treatment as they are subject to income tax and FICA withholding upon exercise. As a result, a company that fails to withhold income tax and/or FICA upon the exercise of NQSOs by its employees would be liable for the amount of the income tax and FICA that the company failed to withhold upon exercise of the options, in addition to interest and penalties.

163. By improperly treating their backdated options as ISOs, defendants failed to provide proper income tax and FICA withholdings upon the exercise of their options by their executives and employees in violation of IRS rules and regulations.

VIII. LOSS CAUSATION

- Lead Plaintiffs incorporate by reference and reallege each and every allegation set forth above, as though fully set forth herein.
- 165. During the Class Period, as detailed herein, defendants engaged in a scheme to deceive the market and a course of conduct that artificially inflated Sonic's securities prices and operated as a fraud or deceit on Class Period purchasers of Sonic's securities by misrepresenting the Company's business success and future business prospects. Defendants achieved this façade of success, growth and strong future business prospects by misrepresenting the Company's financial results and compensation practices. Later, however, when defendants' prior misrepresentations and fraudulent conduct began to be disclosed and became apparent to the market, Sonic's stock fell precipitously as the prior artificial inflation came out of Sonic's securities prices. As a result of their purchases of Sonic securities during the Class Period, Lead Plaintiffs and other members of the class suffered economic loss.
- 166. During the Class Period, defendants presented a misleading picture of Sonic's business and prospects. Thus, instead of truthfully disclosing during the Class Period that Sonic's business was not as healthy as represented, defendants caused Sonic to misrepresent the Company's earnings and compensation and tax expenses, among other important financial metrics. During the Class Period, defendants also repeatedly but falsely emphasized Sonic's compensation practices aligned the interests of management with shareholders, and that Sonic's compensation and accounting practices were overseen by independent, competent directors.
- 167. These false and misleading statements concerning Sonic's financial results and management compensation - plus defendants' non-disclosure of material facts concerning the [CORRECTED] CONSOLIDATED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE Company's compensation practices, which facts demonstrated defendants were not acting in the best interests of shareholders but, rather, were acting dishonestly and in violation of the Company, National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations ("NASDAQ") and SEC policies and regulations – caused and maintained the artificial inflation of Sonic's securities prices throughout the Class Period and until the truth was slowly revealed to the market.

- 168. Defendants' false and misleading statements had the intended effect and caused Sonic's common stock to trade at artificially inflated levels throughout the Class Period.
- 169. Starting in February 2007 through the end of the Class Period on May 17, 2007, investors began to learn the truth upon a number of disclosures, including defendants' own admissions, revealing, among other things: (i) defendants had caused Sonic to engage in substantial backdating of stock option grants issued to employees and executive officers; (ii) Sonic's published financial statements during and prior to the Class Period were materially false and misleading due to the failure to properly account for these stock option grants; (iii) senior management and directors had not conducted themselves with integrity nor in the best interest of the Company's shareholders; (iv) the Company's Board had been derelict in performing its duties; and (v) defendants sold shares of Sonic based on material, non-public information. As investors and the market became aware of the true facts, the prior artificial inflation came out of Sonic's securities prices, damaging investors.
- 170. As a direct result of these disclosures and the public revelations regarding Sonic's issuance of stock options, and the falsity about Sonic's previous Class Period representations and its actual business prospects going forward, Sonic's stock price dropped from a high of $18.03 on February 1, 2007, to as low as $12.08 on May 18, 2007. This drop removed some of the inflation from Sonic's stock price, causing real economic loss to investors who had purchased the securities during the Class Period. In sum, as the truth about defendants' fraud and Sonic's business performance was revealed on May 17, 2007, the Company's stock price dropped, the artificial inflation partially came out of the stock, and Lead Plaintiffs and other members of the Class were damaged.

IX. APPLICABILITY OF PRESUMPTION OF RELIANCE: FRAUD-ON-THE-MARKET DOCTRINE

- 171. At all relevant times, the market for Sonic's securities was an efficient market for the following reasons, among others:
- (a) Sonic's stock met the requirements for listing, and was listed and actively traded on the NASDAQ, a highly efficient and automated market;
- (b) As a regulated issuer, Sonic filed periodic public reports with the SEC and NASDAQ;
- (c) Sonic regularly communicated with public investors via established market communication mechanisms, including through regular dissemination of press releases on the national circuits of major newswire services and through other wide-ranging public disclosures, such as communications with the financial press and other similar reporting services; and
- (d) Sonic was followed by numerous securities analysts employed by major brokerage firms who wrote reports which were distributed to the sales force and certain customers of their respective brokerage firms. Each of these reports was publicly available and entered the public marketplace.
- 172. As a result of the foregoing, the market for Sonic's securities efficiently digested current information regarding Sonic from all publicly available sources and reflected such information in Sonic's stock price. Under these circumstances, all purchasers of Sonic's securities during the Class Period suffered similar injury through their purchase of Sonic securities at artificially inflated prices and a presumption of reliance applies.

X. APPLICABILITY OF THE AFFILIATED UTE PRESUMPTION OF RELIANCE

173. Lead Plaintiffs are also entitled to the Affiliated presumption of reliance¹² because defendants' fraudulent scheme primarily involved a failure to disclose and/or concealment of material facts concerning defendants' backdating of options grants, which information Lead

A United States Supreme Court precedent relating to presumed reliance held in Affiliated Ute Citizens v. U.S., 406 U.S. 128 (1972).

Plaintiffs and the members of the Class would have wanted to have known and which would have caused investors to not have purchased shares of Sonic at the prices they traded at during the Class Period.

XI. NO SAFE HARBOR

174. The statutory safe harbor provided for forward-looking statements under certain circumstances does not apply to any of the allegedly false statements pleaded in this Complaint. Many of the specific statements pleaded herein were not identified as "forward-looking statements" when made. To the extent there were any forward-looking statements, there were no meaningful cautionary statements identifying important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the purportedly forward-looking statements. Alternatively, to the extent that the statutory safe harbor does apply to any forward-looking statements pleaded herein, defendants are liable for those false forward-looking statements because at the time each of those forward-looking statements was made, the particular speaker knew that the particular forward-looking statement was false, and/or the forward-looking statement was authorized and/or approved by an executive officer of Sonic who knew that those statements were false when made.

XII. CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

- Lead Plaintiffs bring this action as a class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a) and 175. (b)(3) on behalf of a class consisting of all those who purchased or otherwise acquired the publicly traded securities of Sonic during the Class Period and who were damaged thereby (the "Class"). Excluded from the Class are defendants, the officers and directors of the Company, any employees of Sonic, to the extent that they acquired Sonic securities by exercising stock options, at all relevant times, members of their immediate families and their legal representatives, heirs, successors or assigns and any entity in which defendants have or had a controlling interest.
- 176. The members of the Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. Disposition of their claims in a class action will provide substantial benefits to the parties and the Court.
- 177. Throughout the Class Period, Sonic's common stock was actively traded on the NASDAQ, an active and efficient market. While the exact number of Class members is unknown to [CORRECTED] CONSOLIDATED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE FEDERAL SECURITIES LAW - C 07-05111-JSW

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

For Violation of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 Against All Defendants

- 182. Lead Plaintiffs incorporate by reference and reallege each and every allegation set forth above, as though fully set forth herein.
- 183. Defendants named herein are liable for: (i) making false statements; (ii) failing to disclose adverse facts known to them about Sonic; and (iii) participating in, permitting or causing contrivances and manipulative acts regarding Sonic's stock option plans and its financial statements. Defendants' fraudulent scheme and course of business operated as a fraud or deceit on purchasers of Sonic's publicly traded securities, as it: (i) deceived the investing public regarding Sonic's business, compensation practices and finances; (ii) artificially inflated the prices of Sonic's publicly traded securities; (iii) caused Lead Plaintiffs and other members of the Class to purchase Sonic's publicly traded securities at inflated prices which caused Lead Plaintiffs losses when the artificial inflation was removed, and unlawfully and improperly diluted their holdings in Sonic.
- 184. During the Class Period, defendants disseminated or approved the false statements specified above, which they knew or deliberately disregarded were misleading in that they contained misrepresentations and failed to disclose material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.
- Sonic and was privy to non-public information concerning the Company. Each of them knew or recklessly disregarded the adverse facts specified herein and omitted to disclose these facts. Notwithstanding their duty to refrain from selling Sonic stock while in possession of material, adverse, non-public information concerning the Company, the insider selling defendants sold millions of shares of Sonic stock at grossly inflated prices, improperly personally profiting and benefiting from their wrongful course of conduct and false and misleading statements.

186. While Sonic's top insiders and directors were issuing favorable, yet false and misleading statements about Sonic, defendants sold millions of shares of their Sonic stock to personally profit from the artificial inflation in Sonic's stock price. Notwithstanding their access to material non-public information and their duty to disclose the same before acquiring or selling Sonic stock, certain of the defendants obtained option grants at artificially low prices or knew positive corporate news was coming which would boost the stock price and they also sold significant amounts of their Sonic stock at artificially inflated prices and at highly suspicious times.

- 187. Public investors who purchased Sonic stock and other publicly traded securities at prices inflated by the false representations and omissions have suffered millions in damages. Sonic and Sonic's insiders who knew the truth fared much better.
- 188. At the same time that these defendants sold their shares of Sonic common stock on the open market, contemporaneous purchases were made by Lead Plaintiffs and other members of the Class.
- 189. In committing the wrongful acts alleged herein, defendants have pursued or joined in the pursuit of a common course of conduct and acted in concert with one another in furtherance of their common plan.
- 190. Defendants initiated and pursued a scheme and course of conduct which was designed to and did: (i) conceal the fact that the Company was allowing insiders to manipulate its stock option plans and was misrepresenting its financial results; (ii) maintain defendants' executive and directorial positions at Sonic and the profits, power and prestige which defendants enjoyed as a result of these positions; and (iii) deceive the investing public, including shareholders of Sonic, regarding defendants' compensation practices and Sonic's financial performance.
- 191. The purpose and effect of defendants' scheme and common course of conduct was, among other things, to disguise defendants' violations of law, abuse of control, mismanagement, and unjust enrichment, to conceal adverse information concerning the Company's operation and financial condition, and to artificially inflate the price of Sonic common stock and other publicly traded securities so they could dispose of millions of dollars of their own Sonic stock, and enhance

- 192. Defendants accomplished their common enterprise and/or common course of conduct by causing the Company to purposefully and/or recklessly engage in the option backdating scheme alleged herein and misrepresent Sonic's financial results. Each of the defendants was a direct, necessary and substantial participant in the common enterprise and/or common course of conduct complained of herein.
- 193. Each of the defendants herein was a direct and necessary participant in the wrongs complained of herein. In taking such actions to substantially assist the commission of the wrongdoing complained of herein, each defendant acted with knowledge of the primary wrongdoing, and was aware of his or her overall contribution to and furtherance of the wrongdoing.
- 194. Defendants named herein acted with scienter in that they knew that the public documents and statements issued or disseminated in the name of the Company were materially false and misleading, knew that such statements or documents would be issued or disseminated to the investing public, and knowingly and substantially participated or acquiesced in the issuance or dissemination of such statements or documents as primary violations of the federal securities laws. As set forth elsewhere herein in detail, defendants, by virtue of their receipt of information reflecting the true facts regarding Sonic, their control over, and/or receipt and/or modification of Sonic's allegedly materially misleading statements and/or their associations with the Company which made them privy to confidential proprietary information concerning Sonic and the options backdating scheme, participated in the fraudulent scheme alleged herein.
- These defendants knew and/or recklessly disregarded the falsity and misleading nature of the information which they caused to be disseminated to the investing public. The ongoing fraudulent scheme described in this Complaint could not have been perpetrated over the substantial time period, as has occurred, without the knowledge and complicity of the insiders and personnel at the highest levels of the Company, including defendants.
- 196. Each defendant perpetuated and furthered the scheme and contrivance, failing to disclose the material facts alleged herein to inflate Sonic's stock price and thus increase their own [CORRECTED] CONSOLIDATED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE Further, defendants failed to disclose material facts alleged herein so as to allow Sonic to report financial results and profits which were materially inflated and in turn reap inflated bonuses and other performance-related compensation, the extent of which was determined by Sonic's financial results and profits.

- 197. Defendants' affirmative actions and conduct to backdate and time their option grants, as alleged herein, were based on a deliberate and concerted effort and course of conduct intended to benefit and enrich themselves to the detriment of plaintiffs and the members of the Class.
 - 198. Defendants violated §10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 in that they:
 - employed devices, schemes and artifices to defraud; (a)
- made untrue statements of material facts or omitted to state material facts (b) necessary in order to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; or
- (c) engaged in acts, practices and a course of business that operated as a fraud or deceit upon plaintiffs and others similarly situated in connection with their purchases of Sonic common stock during the Class Period.
- Lead Plaintiffs and the Class have suffered damages in that, in reliance on the integrity of the market, they paid artificially inflated prices for Sonic common stock. Lead Plaintiffs and the Class would not have purchased Sonic common stock at the prices they paid, or at all, if they had been aware that the market prices had been artificially and falsely inflated by defendants' misleading statements and/or failure to disclose material facts.
- During the Class Period, defendants named in this claim deceived investors and the 200. market and engaged in a course of conduct that artificially inflated Sonic's stock price and operated as a fraud or deceit on Class Period purchasers of Sonic securities by falsifying the Company's financial results.
- 201. By misrepresenting the Company's financial statements, failing to inform the market of the improper and manipulative options backdating scheme and the resulting impact it was having on the Company's financial results and profits, and making other false statements, these defendants presented a misleading picture of Sonic's business, compensation practices, financial results and prospects. This caused and maintained artificial inflation in the trading prices of Sonic's publicly traded securities throughout the Class Period and until the truth came out.

- 202. Defendants' false and misleading statements had the intended effect and caused Sonic securities to trade at artificially inflated levels throughout the Class Period.
- 203. As the truth about the extent and severity of Sonic's stock option abuses and prior overstatement of income and the extent of the harm to its reputation and credibility in the market was disclosed and became apparent to the market, Sonic's common stock price dropped as the prior artificial inflation came out of the Company's stock price, falling from its Class Period high. This price decline occurred as the market digested the impact and meaning of defendants' "backdating" scheme and its impact on Sonic. A significant portion of the decrease in Sonic's stock price was due to the disclosure, revelation and/or leakage of information inconsistent with defendants' prior financial disclosures and Company releases. This drop removed the inflation from Sonic's stock price, causing real economic loss and damage to investors who had purchased the stock during the Class Period.
- 204. As a result of their purchases of Sonic stock during the Class Period, Lead Plaintiffs and other members of the Class suffered economic loss, i.e., damages, under the federal securities laws.
- 205. The Class Period-ending public revelations indicated that there had been prior falsification of Sonic's financial results due to options backdating, accounting manipulations, defendants' manipulative conduct and otherwise; and thus, the Company's prospects for business success and earnings growth were severely diminished. As investors and the market became aware that Sonic's prior financial results had been falsified, and that Sonic's restatement would be material, the prior artificial inflation came out of Sonic's stock price, damaging investors.
- 206. As a direct result of defendants' admissions and the public revelations regarding the truth about Sonic's improper options backdating practices, false financial results and its actual earnings prospects going forward, Sonic's stock price plummeted, causing damage to Lead Plaintiffs and the Class. This decline in response to these revelations removed the inflation from the price of

212. Sonic's proxy statements alleged herein violated §14(a) and Rule 14a-9 because they omitted material facts, including the fact that defendants were causing Sonic to engage in an option backdating scheme, a fact which defendants were aware of and participated in.

Sonic's shares, causing real economic loss to investors who had purchased Sonic securities during the Class Period.

207. In sum, as the truth about defendants' prior misstatements and fraudulent conduct and Sonic's actual financial business performance was revealed, the Company's stock price plummeted, the artificial inflation came out of the stock and Lead Plaintiffs and other members of the Class were damaged, suffering economic losses.

208. The decline in Sonic's stock price near and at the end of the Class Period was a direct result of the nature and extent of defendants' prior misstatements and fraudulent conduct finally being revealed to investors and the market. The timing and magnitude of Sonic's stock price declines negate any inference that the loss suffered by Lead Plaintiffs and other Class members was caused by changed market conditions, macroeconomic or industry factors, or Company-specific facts unrelated to defendants' fraudulent conduct.

209. As a direct and proximate result of these defendants' wrongful conduct, Lead Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class suffered damages in connection with their purchases of Sonic common stock during the Class Period.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

For Violation of Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act

210. Lead Plaintiffs incorporate by reference and reallege each and every allegation set forth above, as though fully set forth herein.

211. Rule 14a-9, promulgated pursuant to §14(a) of the Exchange Act, provides that no proxy statement shall contain "any statement which, at the time and in the light of the circumstances under which it is made, is false or misleading with respect to any material fact, or which omits to state any material fact necessary in order to make the statements therein not false or misleading." 17 C.F.R. §240.14a-9.

1	213. In the exercise of reasonable care, defendants should have known that Sonic's proxy

3	214. The misrepresentations and omissions in the proxy statements were material to

15	217. Defendants acted as controlling persons of Sonic within the meaning of §20(a)
16	of the Exchange Act. By reason of their positions with the Company, and their ownership of Sonio
17	stock, defendants had the power and authority to cause Sonic to engage in the wrongful conduct

Re:

City of Westland Police and Fire Retirement System v. Sonic Solutions

Case No. C-07-05111-JSW (N.D. Cal.)

Dear Carol:

I write in response to your letter of May 28, 2008 and as a follow-up to my telephonic conversation with Cecilia Chan of your firm regarding plaintiffs' May 27, 2008 "Corrected Consolidated Class Action Complaint for Violations of the Federal Securities Laws ("Complaint"). As I explained to Cecilia, plaintiffs filed the correction immediately after being alerted, upon review of defendants' motion to dismiss, to a typographical error that resulted in the omission from the Complaint of plaintiffs' §14(a) Claim for Relief and jurisdictional statement. As you know, and defendants' motion to dismiss acknowledged, plaintiffs had alleged the violations of §14(a) in their initial complaint filed in October 2007. Plaintiffs never intended to "drop" said claims as evidenced by the Complaint's particularized allegations that Sonic Solutions made false and misleading statements in multiple §14(a) proxy statements filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission during the Class Period.

I also explained to Cecilia that it is questionable whether plaintiffs needed to make the correction since the Court could uphold the Complaint, if it was so inclined, on any theory supported by the facts alleged. However, in order to avoid any confusion resulting from the error, plaintiffs immediately filed the May 27, 2008 "correction" which importantly did not contain a single additional factual allegation. Instead, it simply replaced the claim for relief that was in the original complaint but inadvertently omitted from the Consolidated Complaint.

Nevertheless, I appreciate that defendants' motion to dismiss may not have advanced all the arguments available to them had the §14(a) claim for relief not been inadvertently omitted. In that regard, I propose an agreement that would allow defendants to file a supplement to their motion to dismiss, not to exceed 5 pages, specifically directed at the Complaint's §14(a) claim by June 27, if not sooner. Plaintiffs will respond to the §14(a) arguments in their currently scheduled July 18, 2008 opposition, which will allow defendants another opportunity to address the issue in their reply. This approach avoids disturbing the current briefing schedule and allows defendants to make the arguments they would have made had the §14(a) claim for relief not been omitted.

Please provide me with your thoughts on this proposal. We intend to provide the Court with the information it requested in the May 28, 2008 Order Re [Corrected] Consolidated Class Action Complaint soon. Thank you for your cooperation.

Very truly yours,

Shawn A. Williams

Re: City of Westland Police and Fire Retirement System and Plymouth County Retirement System v. Sonic Solutions, et al., No. C 07 5111 JSW (N.D. Cal.)

Dear Shawn:

I write in response to your May 29, 2008 letter, in which you proposed a modified briefing schedule for defendants to address the Section 14(a) claim that was added to plaintiffs' "[Corrected] Consolidated Class Action Complaint For Violations of the Federal Securities Laws," filed on May 27, 2008 ("May 27, 2008 Complaint").

To reiterate, our position (as set forth in detail in my May 28 letter) is that the May 27, 2008 Complaint is an amendment, rather than a correction, to the March 21, 2008 Consolidated Class Action Complaint because it seeks to substantively expand the legal and factual issues by adding a cause of action. Accordingly, we believe that your filing was improper because it was done without the Court's leave or the defendants' written consent.

However, as noted in your May 29 letter, the Court has directed plaintiffs to provide an explanation of the purported "correction" and we will defer to the Court's determination. If the Court permits plaintiffs to go forward with the May 27, 2008 Complaint, we will agree to stipulate to your proposed schedule—that defendants be allowed to file a revised brief by June 27 addressing the Section 14(a) claim and that the remaining schedule stay the same. However, rather than filing a supplemental brief that addresses the Section 14(a) claim in isolation and out of context, we propose that defendants be allowed to file an amended consolidated brief that addresses all claims. We believe that a consolidated brief would be more convenient for the Court as it would not require the Court to review defendants' motion to dismiss in a piecemeal fashion. Additionally, we would further agree that this consolidated brief be subject to the 35-page page limit that was previously stipulated to by the parties and approved by the Court.
